ASH, GREEN is one of our most dependable trees. It is fast growing, long lived, and drought resistant, and will do well in a wide variety of soil conditions.

ASH, MOUNTAIN. An attractive small ornamental tree. Red berry clusters appearing in late summer are very showy.

BIRCH, CUT LEAF WEEPING. The drooping branches, finely cut leaves, and white bark make this tree one of unusual interest.

CRAB, ALMEY. 15-20 ft. Has large glistening red flowers in spring. Foliage remains slightly reddish through the summer.

CRAB, BECHTEL'S DOUBLE. Beautiful fragrant double flowers like pink Camelias. Low branching. 8-10 feet.

CRAB, HOPA. 15-20 feet. Deep pink flowers at apple blossoming time. This is a fine variety and the one we most commonly see.

ELM, AMERICAN. A hardy, long lived tree familiar to everybody. It is tall headed so makes a good lawn tree, and should have plenty of space.

ELM, LAKE CITY. A variety of American Elm which is grafted. It is distinguished by its heavy, rather upright growth and luxuriant foliage.

HACKBERRY shows a remarkable tolerance to a wide variety of soil conditions. Medium rate of growth, is tough, strong branched.

LOCUST, "MORAINE" (Patented). Its graceful, open crown of fine foliage and somewhat pendulous branches make it a splendid ornamental lawn tree. Grass will do well beneath it as its shade is not dense.

MAPLE, "CRIMSON KING" (Patented). A selection of the older Schwedler variety, showing the bright red-purple foliage color all summer. It is quite new and how permanent it will be remains to be seen.

MAPLE, SCHWEDLER. Leaves are a beautiful red-purple in the spring and early summer, then turning green. A fine, showy, specimen lawn tree.

MAPLE, HARD OR SUGAR. This is certainly one of the most beautiful as well as desirable general purpose shade trees. It makes a smooth oval outline, colors magnificently in the fall.

OLIVE, RUSSIAN. A sprawling, picturesque dwarf tree of 25 feet. Foliage is silvery. Ultimate in hardness and is drought tolerant.

POPLAR, LOMBARDY. Everyone is familiar with this tall, slender tree. It grows anywhere, but probably lasts longest if the soil is somewhat poor.

POPLAR, BOLLEANA. Similar in shape to Lombardy, but foliage is bluish green on upper side and silvery beneath. It is a fine accent tree.

WILLOW, NIOBE WEEPING. As a general purpose lawn tree most others are better. But if there is plenty of space and particularly near water it can be used well for a note of picturesque interest.

ALMOND, DOUBLE PINK. Blossoms in early May. Height 3 feet.

ARROWWOOD. 5-8 ft. A hardy, coarse textured screening shrub.

BARBERRY, RED LEAF. Purple-red foliage color lasts all summer if in sunny spot. Brilliant red in fall. 2-3 feet.

BARBERRY, THUNBERG'S. One of our most graceful small shrubs 2-3 feet. Red berries showy in fall and winter.

COTONEASTER. Graceful shrub 6-8 ft. Foliage dark, glossy. Will take dry soil.

CRANBERRY, HIBUSH. 6-8 ft. One of our best shrubs for screening or the border. . . . Clusters of bright berries make it showy in fall and winter.

CURRANT, ALPINE. Wonderful compact, fine textured shrub, 3-4 ft. Invaluable as a landscape shrub. See hedging on other side of sheet.

RED TWIG DOGWOOD. 6-8 ft. Is fine for accent in winter color in a shrub border.

ELDER, GOLDEN. Bright golden yellow leaves mark this shrub through the summer. 6 to 8 ft.

EUONYMUS, WINGED BARK. . . . Among the smaller shrubs this is one of the half-dozen best. The corky wings of bark are interesting and the shrub is slow enough growing that it does not grow out of place quickly. The foliage colors bright red in the fall.

HONEYSUCKLE, ZABEL'S. 8-10 ft. One of our best screening shrubs. Fine textured, graceful, permanent. Red blossoms and red berries.

HYDRANGEA P. G. Blossoms in late summer in large cone shaped heads turning pinkish.

HYDRANGEA, SNOWHILL. Summer flowering variety. Snowball-like blooms white turning green. Useful in shady, moist spot. Prune to ground level each year.

LILAC—FRENCH HYBRIDS. Beautiful shades of deep and pastel colors, red, blue, pink, and white. They are tall growing shrubs, 8 to 10 feet. Do not sucker from the roots as much as the common lilac.

LILAC, PERSIAN. The beautiful lavender, flowers appear late in May. It is perfectly hardy. Height 6 to 8 feet.

MOCKORANGE, GOLDEN: This compact shrub has brilliant yellow foliage. A mass of white flowers in May and June. It seldom grows over 4 feet tall; useful in borders, specimens, foundation plantings.

MOCKORANGE, LEMOINE. This is a finely branched, small leaved variety, with attractive, fragrant white flowers in June. This is another of the half-dozen best shrubs of this size. 4 to 5 feet.

PURPLE LEAF PLUM (Prunus cistena). This shrub is a rather upright grower, thereby not requiring lots of room, and adds a splash of color for the border planting.

PLUM, DOUBLE FLOWERING — (Rose Tree of China). The very beautiful dark pink blooms in early spring have made this a favorite. 4 to 6 feet.

SPIREA. Froebel's is very similar to Anthony Waterer, tho is hardier and has pink blooms and very good reddish fall foliage color.

SPIREA, THUNBERG'S. This is the earliest Spirea to bloom, the shrub becoming a mass of snowy garlands before the leaves appear. 3 to 4 feet.

SPIREA, BRIDAL WREATH. The arching branches well loaded with clusters of white blooms have made this a favorite for a long time. 4 to 6 feet.

Arborvitae

AMERICAN ARBORVITAE — Everyone is familiar with the flat, lacy foliage of the American Arborvitae. It is one of our native trees. It naturally grows in a pyramidal shape. It may attain a height of 40 feet and a spread of 8 to 10 feet, but it can be limited in size by trimming. Grows best in moist locations.

PYRAMIDAL ARBORVITAE — Here is an Arborvitae that was selected because of its rich green color and slender erect form. Old trees may reach a height of 25 feet; the height can be limited and the growth made more compact by trimming. This tree is the most widely planted Arborvitae used in landscape planting.

SIBERIAN ARBORVITAE — Because of its extreme hardiness this Arborvitae was named "Siberian." The dark green foliage is thicker and heavier than that of its parent, the American Arborvitae. It is dense in growth and conical in outline. It maintains its normal shape well, but can be trimmed to any desired form. Can be kept 3 to 4 feet tall.

Juniper

ANDORRA JUNIPER — A very short, creeping type, seldom growing taller than 10 inches, extending several feet wide or as wide as you wish to clip it. Foliage is bright green in summer, bronzy purple in winter. Prefers a sunny spot.

PFITZER JUNIPER — Probably no Juniper is more widely planted than this low, broad evergreen. It is hardy and does well in a wide variety of soils and exposures. It tolerates partial shade and also does well in full sunlight. It may reach 3 to 4 feet in height and 6 or more feet in diameter; however, it is readily trimmed to desired size. Color is predominantly green although a tinge of blue may be evident. It is extensively used in foundation plantings.

SAVIN JUNIPER — Heavy branching gives it compactness, and the spreading habit of growth makes it vase-like in outline. It is usually about as tall as it is broad, sometimes reaching a height of 3 feet and diameter of 4 feet. It is widely used in foundation plantings.

JUNIPER DUNDEE — Attractive coloring and compact, pyramidal habit of growth distinguish this widely planted variety of Red Cedar. The tips of the branches tend to stand upright. Throughout the spring and summer it is bluish green, but with the coming of frost it changes to a purple plum color for fall and winter. It is very hardy.

MOFFETTI JUNIPER — This is a poplar variety of the true Silver Juniper. It is an upright evergreen with attractive light blue foliage. The new growth on the tips of the branches tends to be pendent. Like most Junipers, it can be trimmed or grown naturally. It is very hardy.

RED CEDAR — Our nature upright Juniper, it is very tough and serviceable. By clipping it can be kept a good specimen plant. Green summer color turns purplish in winter.

WELCHI JUNIPER — This very handsome Juniper is one of the more recent grafts of the Silver Juniper. Its most attractive quality is the compact, narrow, upright habit of growth. The vertical position taken by the new growth emphasizes the upright form.

Pine

MUGHO PINE — Here is a low growing dwarf Pine. It is compact and round in shape. The size can be controlled by trimming. The foliage is deep green. It is hardy and will tolerate some shade.

Spruce

BLACK HILLS SPRUCE — A robust appearance is characteristic of this handsome Spruce. It is symmetrical, compact and bushy in habit. It is very hardy and is highly resistant to drought. It will do well on a wide variety of soils. A bluish tinge may be seen in the deep green of the foliage. It may reach a height of 40 to 50 feet, averaging about 1 foot a year in new growth.

COLORADO BLUE SPRUCE — This is probably the most popular ornamental Spruce. It has a symmetrical, conical outline. It is hardy and drought resistant. It grows well in a wide variety of conditions from dry, sandy to rich, moist situations. The color ranges from green to powdery blue. Not all of the trees have the striking blue sheen. The greens and the blues are separated in the price list. The trees may reach a height of 40 feet and a spread of 20 to 25 feet.

Yews (Taxus)

JAPANESE YEW — These are the highest priced evergreens we sell, but we use them because they are so wonderfully fine for that shady spot. In fact in this region they must have winter shade to prevent browning of the needles. Both spreading and upright types are available. For beauty of foliage all year around and adaptability to the shady place, they are just unrivaled.
